THE SCHOOL OF LAW

HISTORICAL STATEMENT

The Law School of the University of Oregon was established by action of the Board of Regents as a regular School of the University on the campus at Eugene in April, 1915, and was empowered to confer the law degrees of LL.B. and J.D. upon its graduates. In December, 1919, the Law School was admitted as a member of the Association of American Law Schools.

THE QUARTERS OF THE LAW SCHOOL

The Law School is located in Oregon Hall. The space allotted to it is divided into comfortable recitation rooms, well lighted and ventilated; the Law Library, where the students study in the midst of the books; and the offices of the Law Faculty, all opening into the Library.

THE LAW LIBRARY

The Law Library is arranged with the idea of offering to the students and faculty an easy access to the books. In addition to about one thousand well selected text-books, encyclopedias, digests, etc, bearing on the law, the Law Library now has on hand the following sets: The Reporter System complete, the State Reports, supplementary to the Reporter System in two-thirds of the states; the statute law of three-fourths of the states, consisting of the latest compiled statutes and subsequent session laws; Lawyers' Reports Annotated (old and new series); American Decisions, American Reports, American State Reports; American and English Cases Annotated; a fairly complete set of the English reports; the American Digest complete; the American and English Encyclopedia of Law; Cyclopedia of Law and Procedure, Corpus Juris, as far as published; Ruling Case Law, as far as published; three sets of the Oregon Supreme Court Reports, together with several sets of Montague's Oregon Digest; Olson's Oregon Laws (a full set of the session laws of Oregon is kept in the general library of the University); Words and Phrases Judicially Defined, and other dictionaries; the United States Supreme Court Reports; Mitchie's U. S. Encyclopedic Digest of U. S. Reports; the United States statutes; the entire National Reporter System. The Library contains the following law periodicals and reviews: The American, California, Columbia, Cornell Law Quarterly, Harvard, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Pennsylvania Law Reviews; Law Quarterly Review; Massachusetts Law Quarterly; Virginia Law Review; Yale Law Journal; Central Law Journal; American Journal of International Law; Case and Comment; American Law School Review; Legal Aid Review.

RECENT GIFTS TO THE LAW LIBRARY

During the past year the law library has been enriched by three important gifts. The first consists of several hundred volumes from the library of the late Judge Matthew P. Deady, of Portland, presented by Mrs. Deady. The second comprises a number of volumes given by Mrs. Sarah W. Russell, from the collection of the late Lewis Russell.

The latest addition is the recent gift from Judge W. D. Fenton of Portland, who presented the law school with his entire law library, numbering something over ten thousand volumes, as a memorial to his son, Kenneth Lucas Fenton, a graduate of the University of Oregon Law School. Among the books given by Judge Fenton are the original single volume editions of the reports of every state in the Union, some of them out of print and exceedingly rare; the United States Supreme Court reports, the statutes at large of the United States, a complete set of the Oregon session laws, as well as an extensive and varied collection of standard textbooks. With these additions the law library numbers about 20,000 volumes.

PURPOSES OF THE LAW SCHOOL

The object of the school is to afford a thorough, practical and scientific education in law. In accomplishing these ends the school recognizes that its primary duty is to the people of the state of Oregon. Therefore, in addition to instructing the student in the broad, fundamental principles of the common law, which lie at the bottom of the law of all the states, daily reference is made to important Oregon decisions and statutes which show any deviation from the rules of law as declared in other states. To further meet the needs of those who expect to practice in this state special courses in Oregon practice and procedure and in Water Rights and Irrigation are given.

While the imparting of information is not neglected, the important factor of developing the faculty of legal reasoning is made supreme in every course. For this reason the method chiefly employed is that of free discussion by the professor and the students of selected cases and other authorities, with a view to arriving at the principles of law by the process of inductive reasoning. This is what is termed the case method of instruction and is used in all the leading law schools of the United States today.

TIME OF ENTRANCE

Students may enter at the beginning of any term, but will find it advantageous to enter at the beginning of the academic year. Students entering late in any term necessarily lose much of the work, and face the possibility of failure.

Three years of residence is required for the completion of the course in the case of all students, regardless of the term of entrance, except in the case of those entering with advanced standing.

ADMISSION FROM OTHER INSTITUTIONS

Graduates of approved universities or colleges and students who, in addition to an approved academic or high school course of four years, have completed two full years (sixty-four semester hours or ninety-six term hours) of work in an approved university or college, are admitted to the Law School as candidates for a degree.

The applicant should file with the Registrar of the University his application for admission accompanied by official credentials (transcripts of record) showing all high school or preparatory work and all college work. If his credentials show that the requirements have been fulfilled, a card of admission will be issued entitling him to register in the School of Law.

Credentials filed become the permanent property of the University.

ADMISSION OF SPECIAL STUDENTS

Persons of mature age, whose preliminary training has not been sufficiently extensive to satisfy the requirements for admission as regular students may, in some cases, be admitted as special students. Such students shall be governed by the general regulations of the University pertaining to special students. All applications for special student standing must be filed with the Registrar and passed upon by the Committee on Special Students.

Applications should be accompanied by an official statement of high school and other work completed, and by a statement from the applicant, together with any credentials that may be available, showing that he is qualified by age, character, practical experience, purpose and habits of study, to profit by University work.

Special students will be required to pursue and complete the courses to which they are admitted with the same thoroughness as regular students.

ADMISSION OF PARTIAL STUDENTS

Persons who have been admitted to the University and who desire to study law as a preparation for business or for its general educational value, may, subject to certain restrictions, take courses in the Law School.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Admission to advanced standing is either upon examination or upon certificate from a law school of standard grade. Persons who have the necessary qualifications for admission to this Law School, and who have satisfactorily completed work in an approved law school, may become candidates for advanced standing. A candidate for advanced standing should submit to the Registrar of the University, in addition to his credentials for admission, a transcript of law school record upon which the determination of his status will be based.

PRE-LEGAL WORK IN THE UNIVERSITY

It is a noticeable tendency of the times to require a more thorough preparation for all the professions. In no line is this tendency more marked than in the profession of law. Therefore, every student who expects to enter this School is urgently advised to secure as complete a collegiate course as his circumstances will allow.

Certain subjects are recommended which are designed to direct the student's efforts into fields which, while affording most valuable cultural results, will at the same time, best prepare his mind to deal effectively with the law as student and practitioner. It is expected that the student will pursue the courses preliminary to his admission to the Law School in a true professional spirit and with a full realization that they are a vital part of his training for success in the legal profession. A selection from the following courses should be made in consultation with the dean of the Law School:

English Composition	Mathematics or Science
Narration	Psychology
Outlines of English Literature	American History
Living English Writers	English Constitutional History
Argumentation and Debate	Accounting
Logic	Business Organization
Economic History	Corporation Finance
Principles of Economics	Executive Management
National, State and Local Government

For admission to the Law School the student must have completed 96 term hours of work in the College of Literature, Science and the Arts and have fulfilled all of the lower division requirements.

COMBINED SIX-YEAR COURSE IN ARTS AND LAW

If, after completing this two-year course, the student desires further preparation in liberal arts before beginning his professional studies, he may either continue through the regular courses of the junior and senior years of the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts, or after adding one more year, he may enter the Law School and, by counting the first year of law toward both the degree from the College and that of the School of Law, obtain both the collegiate and the law degrees in six years from the date of his admission to the University.

If all requirements are complied with, the academic degree is conferred at the close of the first year in the Law School and the law degree at the completion of the law course two years later.

COMBINED COURSE IN COMMERCE AND LAW

Present day conditions make it highly desirable for the lawyer to have an adequate knowledge of sound business administration. Likewise, it is practically essential for a business man to have a knowledge of law. In order to provide such training for law and commerce students, the School of Law and the School of Commerce are offering a combined six-year course in Commerce and Law. Students completing this work will receive the degrees of Bachelor of Business Administration and Doctor of Jurisprudence. Any student who has taken this course is doubly fortified to go successfully into the business or legal world. Detailed information regarding the curricula may be secured from the dean of the Law School.

DEGREES

THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF LAWS (LL.B.)

Students who have acquired 96 term hours of pre-legal credits in this University or their equivalent in another institution of recognized collegiate rank, and who have successfully completed courses in law aggregating one hundred and fifteen credits (the equivalent of three full years of professional study of law), and who have otherwise satisfied the requirements of the University and of the Law School, will be granted the degree of Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.).

Special students who have completed a four-year high school course and who have maintained over the full three years of their law course at this school an average mark of II, and who by reason of their exceptional ability and character are, in the opinion of the Law faculty, deserving of the honor, may be granted the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF JURISPRUDENCE (J.D.)

The degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence (J.D.) will be granted to students who have received the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, or its equivalent, from this University, or from some other institution of recognized collegiate rank, and who have satisfactorily completed courses in law aggregating one hundred and fifteen term-hours (the equivalent of three full years of professional study of law), and who have otherwise satisfied the requirements of the University and the Law School. Since one year of law may be counted toward both the collegiate degree and the law degree, the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence may be satisfied by the successful completion of the combined Six-Year Course in Arts and Law.

The foregoing statement as to the requirements for degrees is subject to the following rules:

1. Any student who fails to obtain a minimum average of IV over the full three years of his law course shall not receive any law degree.
2. No degree will be conferred upon any student who has not spent at least one year in resident study at this University.

EXAMINATIONS AND CREDIT

Written examinations are held at the end of each term on all subjects taken during the term. However, in the case of courses which continue for more than one term, no credit is given until the course is completed. In such continued courses the student is held responsible at each examination period for all of the preceding work of the course.

The purpose of this system is to lead the student to grasp the course in its entirety rather than in chance subdivisions.

REGISTRATION FEES

The law registration fee for all regular and special students, and for partial students carrying more than one course in law, is ten dollars ($10) a term. This is in addition to the University registration fee of $10.75 a term. All fees are payable in advance. Students registering late are required to pay the full registration fees, for the term in which they register, and in addition the fines levied by the University for late registration and payment.

THE TERM SYSTEM

The Law School, like the other schools and colleges on the campus, operates under the three-term system. The terms are known as the fall, winter and spring terms, beginning respectively in 1921-1922 on September 26, January 3, and April 3. Each term lasts approximately twelve weeks, and three terms constitute an academic year.

It is highly desirable for first-year students to enter at the beginning of the fall term, for the reason that important fundamental courses begin then and continue through the year. It is impracticable to begin in the middle of such courses. There are always some courses, however, in the first year that begin at the opening of the winter and spring terms. Where the reasons are urgent beginning students may be admitted to such courses.

In the second and third years, courses frequently begin at the opening of the winter and spring terms. These may be entered by advanced students without difficulty.

LAW FRATERNITIES

DELTA THETA PHI.—A national law society. The membership of this society is composed of students majoring in the School of Law.

PHI DELTA PHI.—A national law fraternity, the membership of which is limited to students registered in the School of Law.

THE QUEEN'S BENCH.—A local law sorority. The membership of this society is limited to women registered in the School of Law.

The purpose of these fraternities is to promote scholarship and high professional standards. Both organizations maintain houses.

SPECIAL LECTURES

In addition to instruction offered in the regular curriculum lectures are provided from time to time by prominent members of the bench and bar and others on subjects in which they have had special experience. During the academic year 1920-1921 the following lectures have been given:

The Court of Domestic Relations, Honorable Jacob Kanzler, Judge of the Court of Domestic Relations of Multnomah County.

The Municipal Court, Honorable George Rossman, Judge of the Municipal Court of the city of Portland.

The Small Claims Court, Honorable Arthur C. Dayton, of the Portland bar, formerly Judge of the District Court of Multnomah County.

The Practice Relative to Water Rights, Honorable Percy Cupper, State Engineer of the State of Oregon.

The Origin and Development of the Oregon Code, Honorable Lawrence T. Harris, Associate Justice of the Oregon Supreme Court.

How to Try a Case, Honorable Robert Tucker, Judge of the Circuit Court of Multnomah County.

Legal Bibliography, Mr. L. S. Mercer, representative of West Publishing Company.

The Workmen's Compensation Law, Honorable William A. Marshall, of the State Industrial Accident Commission.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

The courses of instruction are arranged to present, as far as possible, the fundamental topics of the law during the first year, and the more specialized subjects during the second and third years. In courses continuing more than one term, no credit is given unless the course is completed.
